THE JOSEPH SISTERS SELECTED FOR CMA FEST

Nashville, TN, March 14, 2017– West Virginia based singing trio The Joseph Sisters have been selected to take part in the 2017 CMA Fest in Nashville.

CMA Fest is the annual country music mega-concert. 80,000+ plus people descend on Nashville to see concerts of their favorite artists, and learn about the latest up and coming new artists. The event runs from June 8-10.

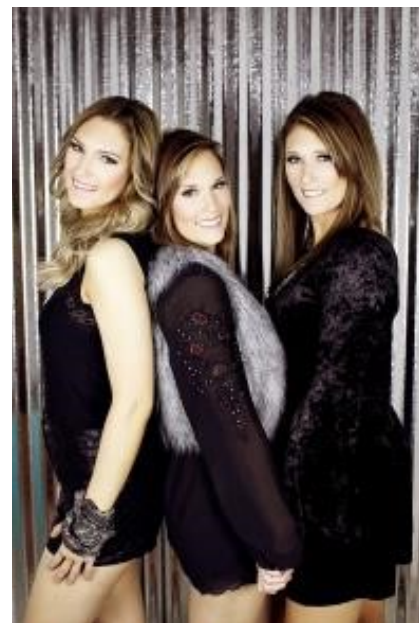

The Joseph Sisters will be part of the CMA Emerging Artist Showcase at Fan Fair X. Country music fans will get some face time with the group as well as a chance to see a live performance.

“It’s an honor to be selected by the CMA for this event. It shows that the CMA cares about developing new groups and acts, and giving them the chance to be seen.” says Shalyn Joseph.

Artists that have been part of this event include Luke Bryan, Jason Aldean, Hillary Scott, Jennifer Nettles, and many more.

The group is releasing their new single “Good Life” to country radio in late March. The ladies are planning a mid-Atlantic radio station tour during March and April to promote their new single.

Blending classic country sounds with a modern appeal and style, The Joseph Sisters plan to open the next chapter of country music. There was a time in country music when family bands dominated the airwaves and the girls next door were the best singing group in the county. Moving ahead to today, The Joseph Sisters plan to bring the family band back to the limelight.
